LARGE PURCHASE OF KY. WOOL MADE BY A BALTIMORE FIRM

Average Price Paid Was 25½ Cents—
Mason County Sold 40,000 Pounds
To the Big Purchase Just Completed.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 26.—Concluding a deal for more than 200,000 pounds of wool, purchased from dealers and growers of central and northern Kentucky, for which a general average of 25½ cents a pound was paid, S. B. Marcus, major member of the firm of Marcus & Herkheimer, of Baltimore, left Lexington Wednesday night for home. Mr. Marcus was assisted in his negotiations for the purchase of this wool by R. Leslie Combs, of Cincinnati.

The amount purchased, 120,000 pounds, was bought at Mt. Sterling, this consignment representing two years clip, as the growers of that section declined to sell their wool last year, preferring to hold for a better price. Another lot of 45,000 pounds was bought of Saunders & Company, dealers of Harrodsburg, and 40,000 pounds from dealers of Maysville. Before leaving for home, Mr. Marcus supervised the entire shipment. Last June this Baltimore firm shipped out of Kentucky more than 200,000 pounds of this year's crop of wool, bought in various counties, making a total of approximately a half million pounds.

According to R. Leslie Combs, prominent wool buyer of this city, many Kentucky wool growers and dealers have been holding their clip for a better price, and there is still in their hands over a million and a half pounds of merchantable wool, which now that the price is improving, he expects to see marketed in the next few weeks.

MR. R. L. NORRIS DIES AT LEXINGTON.

Mr. R. L. Norris, native of Mason county, son of the late Daniel Norris, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Harry Burgoine at 8:15 o'clock Saturday morning after a lingering illness. He is survived by his wife. The body will be brought to German town for burial and the funeral arrangements will be announced later.

HEARTY CONGRATULATIONS.

The many friends of Mr. Joseph H. Dodson are congratulating him Saturday upon his 73rd birthday. Mr. Dodson has probably been in business for a longer time than any other man now engaged in business in Maysville and is now enjoying very good health. His many friends wish him many happy returns of the day.

MR REED TO ADDRESS WOMEN VOTERS MONDAY

Property Rights of Women Will Be Explained at Meet of Mason County League of Women Voters.

COMMITTEEMEN'S NAMES WILL LIKELY GO ON THE BALLOTS

Committee To Be Chosen To Select Mason County's Member of Board of Directors of Co-Operative Marketing Association.

Are you leaving Monday afternoon, December 12th, open? Free from all social or other engagements so that you can hear Honorable Stanley F. Reed at 2 o'clock at the court house discuss the legal status of women with respect to property rights. Mr. Reed is giving his time to impart this information, will you give him a hearing?

In Kentucky does the wife after marriage own her clothes and personal property owned by her before marriage? Mr. Reed will tell you. At a subsequent meeting other phases of the legal status of women in Kentucky will be presented. You will be interested to hear all these discussions. Women are invited and requested to be present. Men are cordially welcome. Questions and free discussion are invited. You may find use for a note book and pencil. Mr. Reed is answering a questionnaire prepared by Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCullough, chairman committee on uniform laws concerning women in the National League of Women Voters. Those who attend these meetings will find that the league of women voters has no more to do with partisan politics than a recipe for pumpkin pie. It deals with matters that every intelligent voting citizen should know with respect to any party. MISS LLOYD.

ATTENDS OLD CHURCH RALLY TODAY.

Rev. John A. Davis Saturday attended a rally at the Locust Grove Baptist church in Nicholas county. This is one of the oldest Baptist churches in the state of Kentucky and among prominent ministers of the state will attend. The local pastor is one of the seven men will select Mason county's member of the Board of Directors.

In many sections more than one county comprise the districts but because of the large amount of tobacco signed in Mason county, our county is made into one district which gives one member of the big managing Board of Directors.

ANOTHER CANVASS TO BE MADE IN MASON COUNTY

Opportunity to Be Given Owners of $89,140 Pounds of Unsigned Tobacco To Get Into the Big Pool.

Mr. Stanley F. Reed, chairman of the Mason County Tobacco Committee, announced Saturday morning that another opportunity would be given those tobacco growers of Mason county who have not yet become members of the Co-operative Association, to become members during the next fifteen days.

Mason county had been worked so thoroughly and those who have not become members of the pool have been visited so many times, that it was thought that the pool would not be re-opened in Mason county but as it is being re-opened throughout the state and as Mason county is very anxious to make as good showing as any other county in the Burley district, it has finally been decided to give those remaining out a last chance.

Up to the present time Mason county has pooled a total of 7,200,000 pounds and only 589,140 pounds remains unsigned in the county.

SUITS ASK WILL AND DEED BE SET ASIDE

Heirs of James W. McIntosh Allege Undue Influence and Ask Breaking of Will and Setting Aside Deed.

George McIntosh, et al., vs. Alvin McIntosh and May McIntosh is the style of two suits brought in the Mason Circuit Court late Friday afternoon. The first suit asks that the will of the late James W. McIntosh probated in the Mason County Court be set aside charging that undue influence was exercised on the part of certain large beneficiaries in the paper.

The second suit alleges that the late James W. McIntosh shortly before his death executed a deed to a certain piece of property to Alvin McIntosh and his wife, May McIntosh, in their young son, Society, in its best bid and tucker, was there to pay tribute to the host and hostess whose entertainments are always marked by such grace and charm.

The ball room was beautifully decorated with Southern smilax and bright colored ribbons, Col. and Mrs. Russell receiving their guests in the west end of the room, Mrs. Russell looking very lovely in an apricot georgette gown, and Col. Russell's cordial welcome making one instantly glad to be "among" those present.

A seven-piece orchestra made the dancing a real delight, and at midnight Mrs. Russell's family and a few of her friends assisted her in dispensing a most delicious frozen punch. Col. Russell then began to perform the most fascinating favors in his own happy fashion, and in a few minutes the ball room was a fair room, every guest wearing a gay colored Pierrot cap, paper streamers festooned everywhere, hundreds of bright balloons bobbing in and out among the dancers, an indescribably lovely picture—and at o'clock, with its good night, came all too soon.

OUR POLICY:

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

HOME OF CONFERENCE SUGGESTS PEACE.

It is especially appropriate that the meetings of the conference to discuss the limitation of armament are being held in the Pan-American building. This building, erected as the home of twenty-one American republics composing the Pan-American Union, is in itself an inspiration for peace and disarmament. The Pan-American Union has for its purpose the realization of peace and good will, of mutual understanding and protection among the nations of the western hemisphere.

Long before any such idea as the League of Nations was either thought or heard of the Pan-American Union, as the instrument of international friendship and peaceful settlement of differences was a going concern. The first international conference of American nations was called in 1890 upon the initiative of James G. Blaine, then Secretary of State under President Benjamin Harrison. At that conference was developed the idea of amity and cooperation among the nations of the western hemisphere. Out of it grew the Pan-American Union, which was reorganized, enlarged and imbued with the new spirit at a conference of the American republics, held in 1906 at Rio de Janeiro.

That conference was attended by Hon. Elihu Root, then Secretary of State under President Roosevelt. Mr. Root returned from the conference with ideals and plans for a bureau of American republics and for a home in which to house the bureau. On the same ship with him was John Barrett, at that time American minister to Colombia, who was also an enthusiast over the same ideas and ideals. As the result of their interchange of views, Mr. Root laid the matter before Andrew Carnegie. The outcome was Mr. Carnegie's donation of $850,000 for the erection of the Pan-American building. The Latin-American republics contributed $50,000 more and the United States Congress appropriated $200,000 for a site.

The cornerstone was laid on May 14, 1908, by President Roosevelt. The other speakers were Elihu Root, Secretary of State; Ambassador Naubuea of Brazil, and Andrew Carnegie. The invocation was pronounced by Cardinal Gibbons and the benediction by Bishop Cranston, of the Methodist Episcopal church.

The building was dedicated April 26, 1910, by President Taft. The other speakers were the late Philander C. Knox, Secretary of State; the Hon. Elihu Root, then United States Senator; Ambassador de la Barra, of Mexico, and Andrew Carnegie. In view of the purposes to which the Pan-American building is now being devoted, it was prophetic that in concluding his dedicatory remarks Mr. Carnegie said: "I now dedicate this home of the Bureau of the American Republics to the highest of all missions—the abolition of the crime of killing man by man as a means of settling international disputes."

It certainly must be a source of unusual gratification to Mr. Root to find himself a member of the American delegation sitting in daily conference within this building, in the conception of which he played so prominent a part working out the ideas of international peace, in the spirit of which the building itself was constructed and to which it was dedicated.

Not only was the building dedicated to peace but throughout its architecture and its setting are numerous allusions and reminders of peace. In the Hall of Americans, the handsomest room of the building, where the daily meetings of the conference are being held, the delegates to the conference have displayed prominently before their eyes four large plaques inscribed with the word "pax." These plaques form almost the sole mural decoration of that lofty and elegant chamber.—Huntington Herald-Dispatch.

FOOD STORES INSPECTED.

Announcement that the State Board of Health has ordered all local stores handling foodstuffs inspected at intervals by the local Health Department will come as good news to the buying public.

While our city justly boasts of some of the cleanest food stores to be found anywhere in the state, there are some that appear to need inspection and the knowledge that there are to be thorough inspections made at irregular intervals will be wholesome in its effect.

It does not appear to be the purpose of the State Health Board to publish the ratings made by the various stores for cleanliness but these records will be public records on file at the Health Department for the use of those interested.

Stores so grossly unsanitary as to seriously endanger the health of their patrons will likely be compelled to improve the unsanitary conditions and we may expect a general improvement in such stores to follow the first inspection.

Merchants who now operate our many high class grocery stores and restaurants will welcome the State Board's investigation.

WILL SANTA CLAUS COME THIS YEAR?

Christmas time is near.

Charity workers tell us that demands are greater than ever. Maysville's City Mission each year plays Santa Claus to many poor families in Maysville and vicinity. Maysville's big-hearted merchants always look after the toys and candies for the kiddies but the Mission looks after the needs of the family. Maysville is proud of the fact that she has a splendid group of business men who for years have prevented a Christmas morning tragedy—an empty stocking. We have likewise provided many Christmas dinners for worthy poor through the City Mission.

Demands will be so heavy this year that it is none too soon to begin thinking about our unfortunate neighbors. We have just celebrated Thanksgiving. Let's make our gifts to the poor this year show our thankfulness in a practical way!

Contribute to the City Mission's Christmas Fund and, considering the increased demand, make it liberal.

If newspapers do not cease this foolish talk about the country being in a "ferment" no man's private cellar will be secure against the desecrating presence of the prohibition sleuth.

STEPCHILD HAS RELATION OF CHILD AS BENEFICIARY.

Frankfort. — An interesting question in regard to the assumed relationship of parent and child as affecting the inheritance taxes, divided the Court of Appeals in the case of L. A. Connor, sheriff of Boone county, against Addie Parsley, to collect 5 per cent. of her inheritance from her step-father. A majority of the court concurred in the opinion of Commissioner Turner, that she stood in the relationship of a child and her inheritance should be taxed only 1 per cent.

APPOINTMENTS ARE LEGAL WHEN NO ELECTION HELD.

Frankfort. — Citizens of Edmonton who challenged the power of the town's board to force them to build concrete sidewalks must pay for walks constructed by the board, the Court of Appeals decided. It was alleged that the board of trustees was not legal because its members had been appointed instead of elected. The court held that in view of the fact that there was no election the appointment of the board was legal.

FIFTEEN IS AVERAGE AT FIRST SALES IN SIMPSON.

Franklin. — The opening of the loose leaf floors here resulted in the sale of 250,000 pounds of air-cured tobacco at an average of $15 per hundred. Leaf brought from $8 to $35.50 and lugs from $2.50 to $20.

DON'T MISTAKE THE CAUSE.

Many Maysville People Have Kidney Trouble And Do Not Know It.

Do you have backache? Are you tired and worn out? Feel dizzy, nervous and depressed? Are the kidney secretions irregular? Highly colored; contain sediment? Likely your kidneys are at fault. Weak kidneys give warning of disease.

Read the warning; don't delay—Use a tested kidney remedy.

Read this Mayville testimony.

Bryan Greenlee, proprietor grocery store, 238 West Third street, says:

"About two years ago I had an attack of kidney trouble and I suffered a lot from backache. There was a deep seated pain across the center of my back. I was repairing machine at that time and when doing any kind of stooping work could hardly straighten up. My kidneys were not acting regularly and other ways showed signs of disorder. I went to Wood & Son's Drug Store and got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. They fixed me up in good shape and I have never been bothered since."

Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Greenlee had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

FOUR DOCTORS GAVE HER UP

Through a Neighbor's Advice This Woman Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Kenosha, Wis.—"I suffered with a female trouble and at last was in bed for six weeks with what the doctors called inflammation of the bowels. Four of them said I could not live. A neighbor told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me from the start. When the doctor came I told him what I had taken and he said,

"Throw my medicine away and keep on with the Pinkham medicine." I did and it cured me. If more women would take your medicine they would not suffer so. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to lots of people and they have been satisfied."

Mrs. MARY KHAPESTOCK, 270, Wisconsin St., Kenosha, Wisconsin.

When a woman is beset with such symptoms as irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, a displacement, backache, headaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness or the "blues" she should treat the cause of such conditions by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the standard remedy for woman's ills.

SEE WAY DOWN EAST Week of DECEMBER 5

New York Letter by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York. — We don't see many sharks exposed on the beaches about New York any more. The story is that they seek the more congested districts of the city. Every now and then one of the incoming ships reports the appearance of these seemingly useless fish and bring in interesting stories of the conduct of the crew when their appearance is discovered. The waterfront buzz again with the traditions and superstitions current among sea-going people after such an event. The latest coming a few days ago recounts the even in this fashion: "One day Sam hooked a big one and he climbed into a skiff which law tied to the end of the slip; the shark took to pulling and broke lose the skiff with Sam in, and away he went down the river, at race horse speed, nearly as far as Red Hook before he tired out, or Sam could hold him up; he, however, mastered him and brought him back, and Sam after that concluded, not to be run away with again. So he stuck to the raft or dock when he fished for 'shirk' thereafter." Skirk is the sea-going name for shark. So long as it is rumored that they are about and personally I know there are some always here, I would recommend shirk the shark.

—NY—

With the passing on of Louis Martin, New York's bohemian pauses a moment to remember that rare gentleman's contribution to the life here during the last decades. It is remembered that the first Cafe Martin at 9th street and University Place was the first resort for New Yorkers of bohemian taste. In the late eighties, it was the only place where a lady might smoke a cigarette and not be beyond the pale. This fact provoked Oliver Herford to write his famous "Women of the Better Class" which did not accept unreservedly the practice. From 9th street, Martin went far up to Fifth avenue and 26th street where he opened a cafe such as New York had never seen before and was considered the last word in high class fast living. The women paid fair to smoke themselves to death according to accounts then, but when Matisson Square became hopelessly, irrevocably downtown, Martin had another surprise in his magnificent lobster palace which he opened in the roaring forties. This place well into the hands of the temporary bohemians and New York likes to think now that the real Martin passed when he left the French Quarter and the brilliant successor in Madison avenue.

Set your housekeeping to music. One resident claims she keeps her maid by purchasing suitable phonograph records to encourage the servant in staying on the job. She sets four new records a month as the required minimum for keeping up the interest. Housekeeping, I suppose, like dancing, is simply a matter of rhythm. Certainly there is the waltz strain in the process of mopping a floor and a fox trot would suggest the deft movement required in flicking the ashes off the mahogany centre table. If Secretary Will Hayes is right in jazzing up his postal employees, why doesn't it follow that those closer to us and much more important than the morning's mail, should be suitably accompanied in their duties about the house. I shudder to think what might happen to the brie-a-brac if one of the stirring Wagnerian records were put on the disc.

—NY—

After long threatening, Mr. Ziegfeld, Jr., has reopened his roof. The beautiful ladies are present again, encouraged by the ridiculous antics of Leon Errol and the wise drooleries of Will Rogers. The opening was a celebration indeed, and more of fun and dance and music and capers generally were indulged in than the average person thinks can be had after midnight. The midnight roof is the barometer of New York night life. Just at this point it seems to have reached blood heat.

—NY—

It is a far cry from the roof to the American Academy of Arts and Letters, but one must get about in New York. The other day, I sat with the immortals because the American Academy is our nearest approach to that august institution of France. It was easy to think it the equal of the institution of French academies because of the presence of that greatest Frenchman, Marshal Foch. He participated in the ceremonies incident to the laying of the cornerstone of the permanent home of the academy at 155th street just east of the drive. To do him honor, as many notable as we could scrape up were present: personages like William Milligan Sloane, the Right Reverend William T. Manning, Robert Underwood Johnson, and Brander Matthews, spoke. The inspiration of this momentous even is best expressed in the Academy's language. "To safeguard the best in America's past. To uphold the best in America's present. To assure the best in America's future."

Washington, D. C. — In his Thanksgiving proclamation President Harding once more stresses what is the keynote of his administration and the central thought of this political career — service. "We shall be prospered as we shall deserve prosperity," he declares, "seeking not alone for the material things, but for those of the spirit as well; earnestly trying to help others; asking, before all else, the privilege of service." And, again, "opportunity for very great service awaits us if we shall prove equal to it."

Warren G. Harding entered the political campaign a year ago with that thought ever before him. Service is to him what the blazing cross in the heavens was to Constantine: "In hoc signo vinces." In his acceptance speech he said: "With an unalterable faith and in a hopeful spirit, with a hymn of service in my heart, I pledge fidelity to our country and to God."

In his Labor Day speech of 1920 he declared: "Work is the supreme engagement, the sublime luxury of life. I wish I could plant the gospel of loyalty to work and kind interest in accomplishment." And by "work" he meant service.

In a front porch speech of September 23, 1920, he said: "Service, a willingness to serve intelligently, to train for human service, to cleave to an idealism of deeds and honest toil and scientific accomplishment, rather than to serve by mere words."

In his address on "Social Justice", some time after, he said: "I believe and have repeatedly said that citizenship is based upon obligation"—the obligation to serve one's fellowmen.

In his Cleveland speech of October 10, he said: "I want to bring about the greatest service that America can give to the world — the service of an example of a great representative democracy undivided. That is my ambition. That is my opportunity for service to America as I conceive it."

In his farewell address to the Senate, following his election, he said: "One cannot promise agreement in all things with an opposite party which is sometimes insistently wrong, but we may find common ground in the spirit of service. There is so much to be done, and we have already had so much delay, that I should like unanimous recognition that there are no party ends to serve, but precious days are calling for service to our common country."

Repeatedly in his inaugural address he stresses the importance of service: "I can vision the ideal republic. where we may call to universal service every plant, agency, or facility, all in the sublime sacrifice for country. Out of such universal service will come a new unity of spirit and purpose, a new confidence and consecration which would make our defense impregnable, our triumph assured. Service is the supreme commitment of life. I would rejoice to acclaim the era of the golden rule and crown it with the autocracy of service."

In his first address to Congress, and in his address at the unveiling of Bolivar, while the word is not used the thought of service is kept uppermost, and when the soldier dead were laid row on row on the Hoboken pier, he said: "These have served, which is the supreme inspiration in living." "Service is the greatest thing in life," he told the Annapolis graduates last June, and to the graduates of the American University, in Washington, he said: "I wish I could impress the young men and women of every graduating class this year with my own acute conviction regarding the obligation of service. the diploma is not a certificate of right to special favor and profit in the world but, rather a commission of service."

HIGH COURT AFFIRMS
MALPRACTICE CASE.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 25. — In an opinion by Judge Thomas, the Court of Appeals today affirmed a verdict of the Kenton circuit court giving Louise Stevenson $2,000 damages against Dr. S. Annie Yates for malpractice. This was the second time the case had been before the Court of Appeals. It was tried three times in the Kenton circuit court.

At the first trial the lower court gave peremptory instructions in favor of Dr. Yates. The Court of Appeals reverted this action and at a retrial the plaintiff got a verdict of $1,500 damages but the lower court set aside the verdict and ordered a retrial. At the last trial a verdict of $2,000 was given.

The Court of Appeals in its ruling today said that the pleadings in the case sustained the judgment and that it could not go beyond this because no bill of exceptions had been filed.

AVERAGE PRICES OF NEW BURLEY SHOWS ADVANCE.

New burley tobacco sold on the Louisville hoghead market this week totaled 66 hogsheads at an average of $19.27 a hundred, this comparing with an average of $18.52 for the 110 hogsheads of this week which have been sold here thus far. Prices ranged from $3 to $40 a hundred.

Evidence that sellers were better satisfied with prices bid than in some time was shown by the comparatively few rejections. These were but 16 per cent of auction sales, compared with 29 per cent, the same week last year.

30,000 RABBITS HELD
TO BE UNFIT AS FOOD.

Cincinnati, Nov. 25.—Record breaking condemnations of rabbits were reported today by Dr. R. B. Blume, chief city food inspector. More than 30,000 rabbits, shipped into the Cincinnati market were barred from use as food by Dr. Blume and his inspectors since the first of the week, on the ground that they were unfit. "The rainy weather and poor packing were principally responsible for the condition of these rabbits," Dr. Blume stated.

COLORED CITIZENS.

George W. Curry and Bettie Matthews, both of Maysville, and well known here, were united in the happy bonds of matrimony Friday night at the home of Mrs. Anna Yates on the Lexington pike, in the presence of a few friends and relatives. Rev. R. Jackson officiating.

Mr. Grant Hill, manager of the Boys Band, entertained all the members of the band Thursday with a Thanksgiving dinner at his home in Aberdeen, Ohio. Every one enjoyed themselves.

Miss Tina Ashe, one of the city teachers of the High School, has been ill at her home in Sabina, Ohio, for the past two weeks. Miss Fannie M. Jackson, the sub-teacher, filled her place.

Mrs. Sarah Woodson, of Portsmouth, Ohio, is visiting her parents, Mrs. Humphrey, of Forest avenue.

Misses Anna B. Fox, M. J. Patton and Tebie Lewis are attending the Women's Federation at Covington this week.

Something for Nothing

Something for nothing! Gain without risk! Reward without effort!

Isn't that what human nature is always looking for? But how seldom we find it.

Every individual must enjoy an income to exist. Every laborer must receive pay for his efforts.

The wise man who saves some of this has a surplus. Surplus invested is "capital."

1,450,000 thrifty men and women from every walk in life have invested in the electric light and power industry.

Their "capital" works hard.

It furnishes the means for building dams and power houses and installing boilers, engines or turbines, and generators. It builds transmission systems and wires homes, factories and office buildings.

In a word, it works that you may have electric light and power.

When capital works it must be paid fair wages, just as humans must be paid for their work.

There is no such thing as "Something for Nothing."

There are 14,000,000 unwired homes and several million farms without the advantages of electric service. Many of these will require electric service within the next few years.

In addition there are 1,500,000 homes, 500,000 factories, 5,000 churches, 60,000 apartment buildings, 15,000 theaters and 5,000 public school buildings to be built before the housing and industrial problems can begin to be solved. Naturally, these too must have electrical service.

There is real work here for the capital already invested and for hundreds of millions of new capital.

All of this must be paid fairly for its work in order that it may help the unemployment situation by paying humans fairly for their work.
